

From Ike to Mao and Beyond:
My Journey From Mainstream America to Revolutionary Communist
By Bob Avakian

Contents

Preface ix

Author's Note xiii

Chapter 1: Mom and Dad 1

Armenia to Fresno to Berkeley . . . Compassionate, and Determined

Chapter 2: One Nation Under God – A '50s Boyhood 10

Sports . . . My Sisters . . . School . . . Froggy the Gremlin . . . One Nation Under God . . . Traffic Boy . . .
I Liked Ike . . . "Have You No Decency?" . . . Becoming Aware of Segregation . . . Family Vacations . . .
The Movies . . . The Baseball Hat

Chapter 3: The World Begins to Open 37

Testing . . . Tournament of Champions . . . Cutting Up . . . Arbitrary Authority . . . Live Oak Park . . . White Port and Lemon Juice . . . James Dean Generation . . . Umpire . . . Marques Haynes Style . . . First Love . . .
Teacher's Trial

Chapter 4: High School 56

Orientation . . . "You Don't Know How Lucky You Are!" . . . Segregation Within Integration . . . Clarence, Lonnie – and Larger Forces . . . Basketball, Football – and Larger Forces . . . Dating – and Larger Forces . . .
Street Corner Symphonies . . . Family Clashes . . . Plato in the Park . . . Spring Thaw . . . Getting Free of Religion . . . Anne Frank . . . Football . . . Keeping the "Rep" . . . Wild Times and Hairy Situations . . . "He Walks in the Classroom, Cool and Slow" . . . "A Little Guy, Brimming With Confidence" . . . The Truck Barn and the Office . . . Camping in Yosemite, and Then

Chapter 5: Life Interrupted 95

"Uh Oh, That's Not Good" – Hospitalized . . . Friends . . . Re-Thinking . . . "And No Birds Sing" . . . "Now Give Me My Milkshake!" . . . Most Courageous Athlete – Until . . . Coaching . . . Back to Cal and Engaged in the World . . . The Cuban Missile Crisis: World in the Balance . . . A Scientific Approach . . . Turning the Corner

Chapter 6: "Your Sons and Your Daughters . . ." 121

Opening Up . . . Torn by Kennedy and the Democrats . . . Into the Student Life . . . Dylan and "Beatlemania" . . .
New People, New Influences . . . Malcolm X . . . Straddling Two Worlds . . . The Free Speech Movement . . .
Mario Savio . . . The Assassination of Malcolm X . . . Deciding About Vietnam . . . Getting In Deeper

Chapter 7: ". . . Are Beyond Your Command" 143

Ramparts . . . Getting with Eldridge, Huey and Bobby . . . The Conservative Communist Party, USA . . . Family
Conflicts . . . Meeting – and Rejecting – PL . . . Running for Office . . . The Summer of Love . . . Stop the Draft
Week – "From Protest to Resistance" . . . New Politics and Old . . . Restless Farewell . . . "The Baddest Motherfucker on the Planet Earth"

Chapter 8: Getting Down with Revolution 169

The Panthers in Action . . . Moving to Richmond . . . The First Political Steps . . . The Working Class: Practice and Theory . . . Peace and Freedom . . . The Flavor of the Times . . . "Rocking" Dow Chemical . . . Free Huey!

Chapter 9: Becoming a Communist	187
Leibel Bergman . . . Red Papers 1 and the Formation of the Revolutionary Union . . . The Struggle in SDS . . . Weatherman . . . People’s Park . . . Confronting the Implications . . . Richmond Oil Strike – And Taking Revolution to the Working Class . . . The Revolution Comes to Richmond . . . Learning from the Proletariat – Deep Bonds
Chapter 10: Taking Responsibility	212
The Panthers – Differences Develop . . . The RU Goes National . . . On The Road . . . Cuba, Vietnam, and the Soviet Union . . . Striking Out Boldly . . . Nationalism and Marxism . . . Anarchism and Marxism . . . Dogmatism and Marxism . . . Women’s Liberation and Proletarian Revolution . . . Going Forward
Chapter 11: Revolution or Adventurism?	237
The Questions Are Posed . . . The Split in the Panthers . . . Settling the Questions . . . Taking on Baggage from the International Communist Movement . . . Reviving Revolutionary Traditions
Chapter 12: Going to China	248
Seizing an Opening . . . Struggle in the Chinese Leadership . . . Transformations – Seeing a New Society . . . Lin Biao and the Complexities of the Struggle . . . A Lesson . . . Running Into Huey . . . Learning an Important Lesson
Chapter 13: Consolidating the Revolutionary Union	260
Moving to Chicago . . . Maywood . . . Fred Hampton’s Legacy . . . The RU’s Early Practice . . . Red Papers 5 . . . The Guardian Forums . . . Agonizing Over McGovern . . . Nixon and Watergate: “Throw the Bum Out!”
Chapter 14: Unity, Struggle . . . and Principle	273
The National Liaison Committee . . . Who Should Represent? . . . No Guarantees Against Selling Out . . . The Struggle Sharpens Up . . . Bundism or Marxism? . . . The Night of the Lepus . . . Deepening the Struggle Against Narrow Nationalism . . . On the Real
Chapter 15: Building the Party	288
Going on Tour . . . The RU and the Mass Struggle . . . In the Mines . . . “Are You Still Not Drinking Coke?” . . . “Time Has Come Today”
Chapter 16: Exposing the Soviets, Struggling with the Chinese	300
The Soviet Union: Flawed Socialism or State Capitalism? . . . Revisionism in Power Equals Capitalist Restoration . . . Return to China: Raising Questions . . . And Getting No Answers . . . Shooting Hoops, and Hold the Sea Slugs . . . Comrade Chin
Chapter 17: Founding the Party – A High Point . . . and a Low One	312
Two Opposed Views, Two Opposed Styles . . . Taking a Wrong Turn . . . Country Music . . . The “Saving Grace” . . . Eldridge Finds Jesus
Chapter 18: Revolutionary Work in a Non-Revolutionary Situation	324
A Target of Surveillance . . . Struggling For a Revolutionary Orientation . . . Gutter Tactics . . . Taking On the Bicentennial . . . Vietnam Vets, and VVAW . . . Debating the Question of War and Revolution
Chapter 19: “Bitter Sacrifice Strengthens Bold Resolve” – Mao	336
The Death of Mao Tsetung . . . A Division in the Leadership . . . Unfolding the Struggle . . . “Everything Seems Very Stable” . . . Focusing on the Cardinal Questions . . . Coming to Grips

Chapter 20: Split!	351
Revolutionaries are Revolutionaries, And Must Be Supported . . . Showdown . . . The Real Deal . . . Pretending Unity, Preparing to Split . . . What If? . . . Deepening and Broadening . . . The Mao Memorials . . . Tell the Truth
Chapter 21: “A Fitting Welcome” for Deng Xiaoping	363
Confronting Deng . . . Pranking the Parrots . . . The Battle in the Legal Arena . . . My Family Grows Closer . . . The Preliminary Railroad
Chapter 22: Re-Evaluation . . . and Leaping Forward	373
Interrogating Ourselves . . . Upholding Mao, Rediscovering Lenin . . . Revolutionary Defeatism vs. Reformist Patriotism . . . Preparing for “Rare Moments” . . . Tribune of the People . . . Revolutionary May 1st, 1980 . . . Keeping an Open Ear . . . Boston Busing
Chapter 23: Stop the Railroad!	389
Turning D.C. Upside Down . . . Defending and Popularizing Revolutionary Leadership . . . Confronting My – and Our – Responsibility . . . Cult of the Personality . . . A Broad Defense . . . Outrage in Carolina . . . The Political Context: Political Shocks, from Teheran to Greensboro . . . “It’s Not Our Embassy!” . . . Uniting Broadly, On the Basis of Principle
Chapter 24: Under Attack	402
Contending in the Media . . . Tactical Retreat, Mounting Attacks . . . Help from the People . . . Damián García
Chapter 25: Exile	410
Learning from the Experience of Lenny Bruce . . . A Tactical Maneuver, Not a Strategic Retreat . . . Applying for Refugee Status . . . Adjusting to Exile . . . Getting into the Scene . . . French Basketball, “The Deerhunter,” and Doo-Wop . . . Leading from Exile . . . Conquer the World! . . . War Clouds . . . Learning to More Deeply Hate Imperialism
Chapter 26: In Exile . . . And Leading Through Line	426
Democracy: Can’t We Do Better Than That? . . . The “Crisis” of Marxism, the Rise of Religion . . . Dictatorship, Democracy, Communism – Dissent . . . Learning from Others . . . Madison, Jefferson, and Stalin . . . The Outcome of the Charges and the Refugee Status
Chapter 27: Perseverance, and Inspiration	437
The Hardship of Exile . . . “Money Can Make Friendship End” . . . Disappointment, Danger and Going Forward . . . Being Sustained . . . Perseverance, and Inspiration
About Bob Avakian	447
Photo section follows page	242