

Preaching from a Pulpit of Bones
We Need Morality, But NOT Traditional Morality
By Bob Avakian

$8.00

Available online at amazon.com and insight-press.com

Insight Press
www.insight-press.com
books@insight-press.com
Distributed by IPG

The reality beneath conservative ideologue William Bennett's Book of Virtues... A provocative look at the limitations of "liberation theology"... Morality from a revolutionary perspective...

"For this clergyman who has struggled with the relevance of the Biblical faith in the face of the crisis in our society, the critique of Bob Avakian comes as an urgent challenge. His thoughtful analysis underlines the urgency of recognizing how shallow has been our understanding and how futile has been much of our effort to work for a just society. There is insight and truth-speaking in this vital book which those of us of religious faith need to hear and to which we need to respond."

— Reverend George W. Webber

Professor of Urban Ministry and President Emeritus, New York Theological Seminary

"What is ethical thinking in a time of social fragmentation and imperialist globalization? Bob Avakian convincingly argues that morality has to be tied to a vision of a good society, a society free of exploitation and every form of domination. Even more does morality have to do with the struggle to create such a society. Avakian points the way toward what some doubt is possible, a materialist ethics. Like Mao's, this is a Marxism that aims at a social analysis that is clear and systematic but not 'cold' — a Marxism with heart."

— Bill Martin

Associate Professor of Philosophy, DePaul University

"From whatever vantage point one looks, it is unmistakable that there is what could be called a 'moral crisis in America.' There has been, to a significant degree, 'a breakdown of traditional morality.' But the answer to this — at least the answer that is in the interests of the majority of people in the U.S. and the overwhelming majority of humanity — is not a more aggressive assertion of that 'traditional morality,' but winning people to a radically different morality, in the process of and as a key part of radically transforming society and the world as a whole. It is not the tightening but the shattering of tradition's chains that is called for."

— Bob Avakian, from the Prologue